

Matt Backiewicz joined Dawson in May 2012 as the Vice President of Sales and Business Development. He is responsible for leading sales initiatives to drive business relationships and development for the staffing firm.

Matt has more than twenty years of sales and business development experience. Prior to joining Dawson, he worked at Continental Office Interest in several different capacities across the entire company. Matt also worked for Advantage Draining Systems selling to large corporate entities across the country.

Matt's commitment and passion to workforce development in the community is evidenced by his participation with the Central Ohio Workforce Coalition as well as partnerships with JobsOhio and Columbus 2020. Matt also leads Dawson's programs including outreach in the areas of education, community, government support, and corporate partnerships, providing career consulting and work-based learning initiatives to the emerging and transitional workforce.

Matt graduated from Miami University with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration-Management. He balances his career and home-life with his wife and three children.
